

GREAT CROWDS THE CUBS WIN

Pent-Up Enthusiasm Exhibited At The South Side Park This Afternoon.

BITTER PITCHERS' WAR

Sox Battled Bravely to Make it Three to One Before an Immense Throng of Baseball Fans Who Cheer the Winners.
(Special by A. D.)
Chicago, Ill., Oct. 12.—South Side Park.—Say, you Janesville people ought to see this crowd. It is the biggest that ever greeted any two teams thing that goes to make up enthusiasm. Chicago is baseball crazy and the warm balmy weather today has given every fan the opportunity of his life to come and root for his favorite team. And they are rooting.

Better Weather Today—It's Even Hot at the Ticket Window.

Sullivan Remains Behind the Bat for the Sox.

The Sox Are Feeling Chesty Today.

I saw several ticket speculators arrested as I came in. No advance sale of seats is allowed but just the same lots of people double the regular price to get a good seat. This is the last day the two teams get anything from the gate receipts and the crowd today will make up for the deficit caused by the weather man the past three days. Odds have dropped to even money and even six to five on the Sox but mighty little of this is being shown. Even money is good enough for even a Sox enthusiast.

Johnny Ray's Bet.
I have just heard that Johnny Ray, who married Emma Carter of Janesville and who with his wife often visits his father-in-law, Elijah Carter, on Milton avenue, sent five thousand dollars to Malachy Hogan with instructions to bet it all or any part of it on the Sox. "Johnny" could not miss "the Hot Old Time" long enough to see the game but sent his money. The money was received last Tuesday and all Johnny wanted was eight to five. He would have hard work getting that this afternoon.

Are Prepared.
While the weather is warm to a certain degree the wind blows over the field, the fans are all prepared for any emergency. One strange feature of the whole enterprise has been the enthusiasm and partisanship of the women who attend the games. They make more noise and are more enthusiastic than all the men fans with chimes or drums or horns put together. All the big notables of the baseball world are in their places and one can see the "umps" talking together while we all wait the fourth of the world's series.

All is Ready.
South Side Park.—2 p. m.—Here they come. Captain Jones and Captain Chance are trotting over to the Ump. While the rest of the boys limber up. Hahn with his injured nose, broken by Pfeister in yesterday's game is in uniform and is greeted with cheers. It has just been announced that Brown and Kling will be the points for the Cubs and Albrook and Sullivan for the White Sox. Davis, the sensational shortstop of the Sox, who has been out of the game thus far this series is back at short plating Tannerhill on the bench. Rohe the utility man has still the third bag to look after and is expected to hit out a few.

Other committees held meetings throughout the day to put the finishing touches to the convention program and to complete the reports which they will present to the gathering.

MONUMENT TO VERDI IN NEW YORK CITY

Attendance of Italians Only Exceeded in Size by Throng at Unveiling of Columbus Memorial.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
New York, Oct. 12.—This was a gala day for the Italian residents of the metropolis. The occasion was the unveiling of the monument to Giuseppe Verdi, the Italian composer, which has been set up on the triangle made by the intersection of the Boulevard, 10th avenue and 73d street. For weeks past the influential leaders in "Little Italy" have been preparing for today's function, with the result that the outpouring of Italians was the largest New York has witnessed since the dedication of the monument to America's discoverer located in Columbus Circle at the entrance to Central park. Added brilliance was given to the unveiling today by the presence of the officers and crew of the Italian warship Etnea, Flaminio, which King Victor Emmanuel sent to New York especially for the occasion. The speakers included prominent Americans and Italians, brought together by the bond of their love for the great operatic genius. Another feature of the unveiling program was a children's chorus of two thousand voices.

The Verdi memorial is the work of Chevalier Farnet, a well-known sculptor of Palermo, Sicily. The monument is about twenty-five feet in height and is composed entirely of fine Carrara marble and dark tinted granite. On top of a round granite shaft, which is capped by a laurel wreath, stands the imposing figure of Verdi as he looked in the heyday of his career. The granite shaft on which the figure of the composer stands rests on a square base of the same dark stone, and supporting the central column are four smaller figures, in Carrara marble, representing the four seasons of Verdi's life. They are "Alba," "Folstail" and "La Torra del Destino."

The money for the monument was raised by popular subscription. Soon after the death of Verdi, on January 25, 1901, Signor Charles Barotti, the editor of an Italian newspaper, conceived the idea of collecting a subscription to perpetuate in marble the memory of Italy's favorite composer and the man whose operas were loved by the whole world. Contributions poured in from all parts of the United States from Italians who recently emigrated to this country and from those who have become American citizens. In the end $20,000 was subscribed to the monument fund.

DAVIDSON STUBBORN ABOUT A FORTY THOUSAND CHECK

Does Not Quite See How La Follette's Friend Really Earned That Amount of Money.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Madison, Wis., Oct. 12.—Governor James O. Davidson refuses to audit and sign a voucher for $40,000 which has been in his possession almost ten months. It is for professional services of H. W. Chynoweth, Governor La Follette's special attorney in the lawsuits between the state and the railroad companies, for the $1,450,000 alleged to be due the state from the railroads as back taxes and penalties for filing of alleged false reports of gross earnings, which the railroads under the old ad valorem taxation law filed for the purpose of evading their taxes. They were taxed 4 per cent on their gross earnings. The lower courts held that they had to pay penalties of $10,000 for each false report filed and had to pay also the back taxes on unreported earnings. The supreme court affirmed the back tax decision but held that the state's attorneys had "stipulated away" the state's case in the penalty claims by agreeing that the roads in filing the false or incomplete statements had no intent to defraud the state. Mr. Chynoweth was the political manager and advisor of Governor La Follette and was appointed special counsel to handle these important cases. He was paid over $14,000 during Governor La Follette's term in the executive office and another voucher for an additional fee of $40,000 was almost ready for executive signature when Governor La Follette, becoming senator, stepped out and was succeeded by Governor Davidson. The present executive says he thinks the special attorney was well and fully remunerated and will not sign the big voucher unless the legislature directs that the money be paid. Speaker L. L. Lenroot of Superior, La Follette's defeated candidate for the republican nomination for governor against Davidson, was also a special attorney and received some $3,400.

FOUR CANDIDATES FOR GOVERNOR IN COLORADO

"The Kids' Judge" And Miners' President, Now In Prison On Murder Charge, Figure In Race.

CANDIDATES FOR GOVERNOR. Republican—Rev. Henry A. Buchtel, a Methodist clergyman, formerly a missionary in Bulgaria and now chancellor of the University of Denver. Democratic—Alva Adams, twice governor and three times previously the party nominee. Independent—Ben B. Lindsey, popularly known as "the kids' judge," because he framed the juvenile court law and is judged of that court. Socialist—William D. Haywood, secretary of the Western Federation of Miners, now confined in the Idaho state penitentiary, charged with the murder of "ex-Governor" Steunenberg of that state.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Denver, Colo., Oct. 12.—The most spectacular political campaign ever waged in Colorado is now at its height. Ring rule and the domination of corporations in politics are the chief issues, though there are other questions figuring in to add spice to the campaign. The fireworks of the campaign and the thing which has tended most to raise it above the ordinary level of political contests in popular interest is the candidacy of Judge Ben B. Lindsey for the governorship on an independent ticket. Judge Lindsey is pretty well known throughout the country as the author of the juvenile court law in Colorado, which has formed the model for similar legislation in twenty-four states. He is a foe of ring rule and talks as freely of corruption in his own democratic party as in the opposition party. Judge Lindsey desired the democratic nomination for governor if he could secure it without giving any pledges or promises. When it became apparent that Senator Patterson, and his followers were to control the state convention Judge Lindsey refused to allow his name to go before that body. As the campaign has progressed it has become evident that the independent voters are rallying to the Lindsey standard in great number. Lindsey is making his campaign practically without money. He has no organization and has refused to accept a single dollar of corporation money. If elected Judge Lindsey will go before the legislature with a demand for the enactment of the primary election law, which will take party machinery out of the hands of corporation bosses and rid Colorado of corporation control. He will also ask for other important legislation affecting the judiciary of the state. The republicans experienced much difficulty in making up their state ticket. The names of half a dozen party leaders were mentioned in connection with the gubernatorial nomination before the convention met, but no one of them was desirous of entering the contest under existing conditions. Finally, when the convention met, the nomination went to Philip B. Stewart, a Colorado Springs lawyer. But Mr. Stewart declined to make the race unless William H. Gahbert, chief justice of the supreme court, who is running for re-election, withdrew from the ticket. The objection to Judge Gahbert was based on the allegation that he favors corporations. After Mr. Stewart's declination the republicans finally induced Dr. Henry A. Buchtel, chancellor of the University of Denver, to accept the nomination.

Alva Adams, the democratic candidate, is one of the most widely known men in Colorado politics. After having filled two terms in the governor's chair he was a candidate again two years ago. On that occasion he claimed to have defeated James H. Peabody, republican. In the contest that ensued the supreme court unseated a sufficient number of democrats in the senate to give the republicans control of that body. The senate then declared Peabody reelected. It is as a result of this turn of affairs that Adams seeks a vindication this year. As a matter of fact, however, Adams was desirous of having a try for the senatorship, but Senator Thomas M. Patterson, owner of two Denver newspapers and virtually the democratic state boss, could not see it that way. He practically forced Adams to accept the gubernatorial nomination and then had a plank inserted in the party platform that effectively puts Adams out of the running in the senatorial contest.

The effect of the socialistic campaign, with William D. Haywood at the head of the ticket, is problematical. The socialists do not expect to elect their candidates, but they will draw votes from both the old parties. They will have the strong backing of the Western Federation of Miners and of labor organizations in general.

CLUB WOMAN ROASTS VARSITY PROFESSOR

Accused Chicagoan of Suffering with Indigestion—Cleveland Has This Far Escaped.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Wausau, Wis., Oct. 12.—Mrs. Edgar P. Sawyer of Oshkosh, the retiring president of the State Federation of Women's Clubs, today characterized a Chicago university professor as suffering from an attack of distressing indigestion when he gives vent to his spleen by insulting "civilems" on American womanhood. Grover Cleveland has been the favorite target at all meetings of the Wisconsin federation and possibly will come in for his annual drubbing before the convention adjourns. Prof. Roberts of the Midway educational institution was singled out today. Mrs. Sawyer added that fortunately more of our men of America are champions of our sex than enemies. They have looked to us to uphold the moral sentiments of the nation. The American home has always been the bulwark of our country's progress, she continued, and especially the club women now and ever place it as the foremost object of their reverence. The federation adjourned after electing officers nominated on Thursday.

FACES WREATHED
ALL IN SMILES

WASHINGTON IS VERY LIVELY
AT PRESENT.

VERY LITTLE POLITICS

Little Bits of Gossip of the Public Men Given at Random.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 11.—(Special correspondence.)—Washington people are wearing their faces wreathed in smiles these days, and with good cause, for never has the season opened more auspiciously. Usually Washington is somnolent during the summer when congress is not in session and especially so just preceding a national election. This year things are different, and the condition of the hotels is significant of the growing importance of the capital of the nation. This week the annual encampment of the United States War Veterans is in session, there is a convention of oldtime telegraphers and the annual meeting of the wholesale druggists, a hundred railroad men are here attending the session of the Interstate Commerce commission and these visitors are reinforced by hundreds of tourists. The weather in autumn in Washington is usually ideal. The trees still preserve their foliage and the skies are clear, while the air is cool and invigorating. The fall faces will be here soon and after that a short busy session of congress. The hotel season is well under way and from now on the hotel corridors will be well filled.

Senator Bacon of Georgia has come out flat-footed against the annexation of Cuba. On his way through Washington he said: "Generally speaking, social as well as political equality exists among all classes in Cuba. The negroes there are a prominent, self-assertive and aggressive force in matters civil and military. Insurrection of political parties and leaders in revolutionary enterprises of the past and present. To introduce such a community into our federal system would seriously enlarge and intensify the racial problem. With the development of the sugar and tobacco interests in Cuba, which would certainly and speedily follow annexation, those interests in the United States would soon be destroyed. Certain kinds of tobacco production might be excepted, but generally speaking this would be the result." Senator Bacon also pointed out the immense loss of revenue which would ensue if Cuban sugar and tobacco were admitted free.

W. C. Oliver of Knoxville, Tenn., said to be the largest railroad contractor in the United States, favors the construction of the Panama canal by contract. He claims it can be completed under the contract system in from six to eight years and the south is especially anxious it should be ready for operation at the earliest possible moment. Mr. Oliver says the south is progressing rapidly, especially in the production of iron, steel and cement. Large quantities of which are being used in the construction of railroads which is keeping up with the development of southern industries.

Turn Your Face
Into Dollars.

Many a Man Has Failed Because His Face Was a Picture of Calamity.

It takes sunshine to produce a rose, a perfect rose. And so man, to be successful must have sunshine inside. The life which has it not, which has no health and happiness, is sour, surly, pessimistic, and a failure. The world already has too many vinegar faces that breathe ill-will and strife. The world wants joy, comfort, sunshine, and will cling to the man who has it, who radiates gladness and triumph wherever he is and under all circumstances.

Some people have a genius for seeking out the disagreeable, the crooked, the bad and the ugly. These are the destroyers; they travel in schools, they herd together for they love their kind, will have nothing to do with them.

And why is it that so many peddle disaster knowing at the same time that if they do, their lives will be ruined? Some people cannot help it, for pessimism usually comes from bodily disorders. The stomach, for instance, is the most common cause of discontent, sour face, recklessness, disgust and lack of ambition. A bad stomach—there is the secret of many a failure. Anyone can have a good stomach, a strong stomach, a stomach that can take care of anything and everything that is put into it, no matter whether it is a very bad stomach, now or not. Then why not have it?

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets do this very thing. One ingredient of these little tablets digests 3,000 grains of food, and no matter how bad is your dyspepsia or indigestion, these tablets will digest everything in your stomach thoroughly and completely, and better and quicker than a healthy stomach can do the same thing. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will cure quickly loss of appetite, brash, irritation, burning sensations, nausea, heartburn, eructations, loss of vim and spirit, bad memory, and dyspepsia and indigestion in their very worst forms.

No other little tablets in the world can do so much. You should carry Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets around with you wherever you go and take them after meals. Then only will you realize what it is to enjoy a meal, and what perfect digestion means. Your whole body and your mind will feel the effects; your vim will increase, you will be more satisfied with what you eat, and you will think happier the world around you, and your face will be one of supreme contentment. That will bring you success and then more success. Your face will bring you dollars. Try it. It will cost you just 50c for a package of these wonderful Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, at any drug store on earth.

the United States senate as long as he lives and cares to hold the place," said Commissioner of Insurance, Burton of Virginia, and secretary of the democratic state central committee, while here in attendance on the insurance convention. Of late reports of dissatisfaction over Senator Daniel's interview criticizing Mr. Bryan's government ownership of railroads doctrine have been coming from Virginia, and the intimation has been made that Mr. Daniel will have opposition, especially from State Senator Thomas of Lynchburg. Mr. Daniel's home town, which has come out for government ownership.

Insurance Commissioner Burton says that Virginia is not ready for government ownership of railroads, and doubts if her people can ever be brought to see the wisdom of such policy. "But even if a majority of them should ever accept this as good democratic doctrine," said Mr. Burton, "and if Major Daniel should then renounce it, the people of Virginia would return him to the senate. Since he has served his state. As a young man he went into the army and was crippled for life; the crutches he carries are evidence of this. Since the war there has not been a political campaign in which he has not canvassed the state and fought for the party. I believe the great mass of the people of the Old Dominion, so long as democracy is in the ascendancy, will continue John W. Daniel where he now is."

After a three months' trip through the Pacific states and Canada, with his family, Senator Tallaferra of Florida came to Washington to consult the democratic campaign leaders. He is a member of the congressional committee. In discussing the San Francisco disaster the senator said, "I am not comprehending the enormity of the catastrophe. The city was almost completely destroyed and yet the people there are confident of its being restored in five or ten years at the most. Discussing conditions in the northwest and the south, the senator said: "The northwest has a great future as it offers a better means of making money quickly than anywhere else. With the south Mississippi valley, it will see the greatest development during the next decade. The lower Mississippi will benefit from the fact that it will be the gateway to the markets of the world through the gulf and the Panama canal, and that it has every material resource. In addition to being able to raise two crops where the north can raise but one."

Before leaving for Cuba, former Governor Magoon of the Canal Zone discussed labor conditions in that territory, giving it his judgment that Chinamen would become good workmen on the canal after they learn how to work. He thinks the more Chinese labor is secured for this project the better, as they are more efficient workers than the negroes of Jamaica. He fears, however, that after the Chinamen make a little money they will quit their work and go into business for themselves.

Dr. David Jayne Hill, American minister to the Hague, who was for many years connected with the state department here, is in Washington. He is a member of the commission on citizenship, which will consider changes in the naturalization laws of the United States. The doctrine of expatriation has not been agreed to by the European governments and to this fact is due the trouble into which many naturalized American citizens get themselves when returning to their old homes and claiming the protection of the United States. This commission will hold several meetings at the state department within the next few weeks at which efforts will be made by this government to secure new treaties that will recognize the right of a citizen or subject to change his allegiance if he desires.

Charles R. Miller of Cleveland, O., the retiring commander-in-chief of the United Spanish War veterans, whose annual encampment is in progress here, thinks the Cubans should be given another chance to govern themselves, and if they do not demonstrate their ability the United States should take the island. He says he and his comrades did not go to war for glory, but to free Cuba. "If it must come to itself," he said, "it must fall into the hands of the United States or a European power. It is my opinion that if its people again fail to maintain a stable government, it should become a part of this country."

The Phi Delta Theta college fraternity will hold its annual convention here, from November 26th to December 1st next. This will be the first time in the history of the order that this fraternity has held a convention in the Capital city, and it is expected the attendance will be a record-breaker. The convention will be entertained by the Washington alumni chapter.

414TH ANNIVERSARY OF COLUMBUS' DISCOVERY.

CARROLL COUNCIL AS HOST

Entertained Eminent Visitors at Festival Board Last Evening—Hotel Myers the Scene.

GRAND KNIGHT JOSEPH CONNORS

"Of his great power of organization, of the persistency with which he clung to his work, of the indomitable faith which buoyed him up, of the fire burning in him and forcing him forward of these aspects of the life of the great discoverer we hear over and over again. But no matter how often we consider him there is always a new viewpoint."

"Columbus was a dreamer, but he was a practical dreamer. He followed his dreams with active work. Once satisfied by reason and the power of his intellect that his theories must be realities he went forward and no force could stop him. His greatest glory is that he DID SOMETHING."

"What are we doing? If we be true followers of this great genius, whom we may not equal but whom we may emulate, we, too, must do something. It is not fair that we should take his name and not follow in some measure in his footsteps. He who would become a Knight of Columbus in the truest sense must have strength and breadth of character. He must seek the betterment of all men. Imbued with some of the fire that was in Columbus he can do something towards making public life better. He may acquire those lofty aims, those genuine traits, those characteristic virtues which belong to Christian manhood."

"Columbus has been the inspiration of millions. He was the foremost man of his century in public manhood. He was in no sense selfish. He knew not the meaning of bigotry. He gave his life—that portion of it which was most brilliant and that which was spent in direct poverty—as a sacrifice for the good of others. By his great heart and mind he gave the world a new continent."

"There's our example and inspiration to do something—to do that something which is needed in our own locality. Janesville averages well with the other cities of the state. But a good average is sufficient only for the lazy man. If Columbus had been satisfied to remain only an average individual he would have lived and died a common man, and his name would have been forgotten."

"Enrolled under the banner of the man who, if he is not a saint, will be one, there is something we can do. Let us undertake it."—Rev. Fr. J. M. Warrington, State Chaplain.

Members of Janesville's Council of the Knights of Columbus and visitors numbering in all over eighty participated in a notable celebration at the Hotel Myers last evening of the anniversary of their patron's landing in a new world some four centuries ago. At half-past eight o'clock the guests took their seats about the large rectangular banquet-board in the main dining hall and partook of a delicious repast served in faultless style by the management of the hostelry. The attractive menu cards heralded the five courses as follows:

Oyster Cream Soup
Crisp Celery Chervins
Cold Roast Spring Chicken
Cranberry Sauce
Roast Prime Beef
Mashed Potatoes Creamed June Peas
Parker House Rolls
Shrimp Salad
Sunshine Cake Devils Food
Lemon Layer Cake
Macaroon Ice Cream
Cigars Coffee Music
Speaking

Welcomed by Joseph Connors, besides the lodge officers and layman orators, there were seated at the north-end of the rectangle the following local and visiting members of the clergy: Rev. Dean B. M. McGinty, Rev. Fr. J. L. McGinty, and Rev. Fr. W. A. Goebl, all of Janesville; Rev. Fr. Eugene J. McCarthy, who has the Evansville and Stoughton parishes, but makes his headquarters in this city; Rev. Fr. J. M. Naughton of Madison, Rev. Fr. C. F. McBride of Oconomowoc, Rev. Fr. M. A. Condon of Oregon, Rev. Fr. M. A. Condon of Oregon, Rev. Fr. M. A. Condon of Oregon.

The formal opening takes place this evening in the First Methodist Episcopal church, which has been elaborately decorated with red and white, the colors of the league. VINOL'S RELIABILITY

Prominent Physicians Join with Smith Drug Co. in Recommending Vinol.

Countless physicians and druggists are now prescribing and endorsing Vinol as the most valuable cod liver oil preparation known to medicine and it is fast superseding all other forms of cod liver oil and emulsions. "A prominent physician writes: 'I am satisfied that Vinol derives its wonderful life-giving and strength-creating power from the medicinal curative elements found in the cod's liver. It is the best strength-creating and vitalizer for old people, weak women, children and the convalescent after fever sickness.'"

Another physician writes: "I could cite many cases where health has been restored in a surprisingly short time by Vinol. I should be very sorry to have to do without Vinol in my practice. It has no equal for hard colds, throat and bronchial troubles. Now, when we tell you that we have never sold in our store a remedy of more remarkable curative and strength-creating power than Vinol for the weak, the sick and the aged, and that if it fails to accomplish what we say it will, we will refund your money without question, it shows you our faith in the preparation. Try Vinol on your guarantee, Smith Drug Co."

NOTE.—While we are sole agents for Vinol in Janesville, it is now for sale at the leading drug store in nearly every town and city in the country. Look for the Vinol agency in your town.

..Forty Years Ago..

Janesville Daily Gazette, Friday, October 12, 1866.—The No. Plus Ultra washing machine of this city took the first prize at the Minnesota state fair.

A Nuisance.—We observe that filthy water settles in the gutter on the east side of Main street, near Court, creating a bad odor thereabouts. It should be abated.

City Nuisance.—It has long been a debatable question whether a board of health in this city was a myth or a reality; but there is no question but that we have city authorities, we feel that sensibly, especially when the tax collector comes around. Now if we have such authorities, is it not a most damaging impeachment against their efficiency and care for the health of the city that they should permit week after week the carcass of a horse to remain unburied right within the city limits, to diffuse its rotten, health-destroying, pestiferous stench in all the surrounding atmosphere; and that too, after not only having been notified of the fact, but entreated to have the nuisance abated? It would cost a few dollars to have this carcass buried so as to be utterly harmless; but the health of the whole city must be exposed and endangered to save this trifling outlay. This is economy with a vengeance.

The Rock River Survey.—The Rock River surveying party, under the direction of Col. Warren, arrived here on Tuesday last, and are now on their way down the river. As most of our readers are aware, this survey is made under the direction of the War Department and at the expense of the Government, with a view of securing passage for gunboats from the Lakes to the Mississippi, and should the route be found practicable for government uses, it would not doubt be a grand improvement, viewed in this sense alone; but when we consider its commercial advantages and the great benefits it would confer on a locality already celebrated for its wealth and population, it is not surprising that the people of the valley with great interest. Practical men assert that a section of the country so rich in its resources as the Rock River valley, with hundreds of miles of navigation in the south and west, afforded by the Mississippi and its tributaries, would warrant the building of a canal from Fond du Lac to Rock Island; but when there is a river like the Rock, penetrating nearly through the entire distance, whose channel is already fit for use a large portion of the way, it will be most surprising if nature's grand opportunity has not been long since improved. The great necessity for the completion of this improvement, as a local enterprise, has heretofore been fully set forth in these columns, and the reasons assigned for it have been acquiesced in by the voice of the public meetings and corroborated by the universal judgment of our people.

struggling church with hymn-books, with Janesville as the locale and Druggists Buss as the advertising hero. Hence the animated rendition by the congregation of:

"Hear the conquering army sing
Busses' pills are just the thing
They always were—and very mild
Two for man and one for child."

A Council which could produce such a Pennsylvania talent, he was sure need not apologize for its members. Turning to the consideration of the occasion and the subject proper he dwelt for a time on the chain of circumstances which led up to the appointment of the first Catholic bishop in the United States. Archbishop Carroll, he said, was the choice of Benjamin Franklin. The latter had been sent from the colonies to Canada to make an effort to secure at least the neutrality of the French in the revolutionary struggle. On the journey he was taken sick and tenderly nursed by Father Carroll. He never forgot this obligation and through his efforts the ministers at Paris presented the matter to the papal nuncio, urging that one of the things which would tend to promote good feeling in the colonies toward the church would be the appointment of this man. So the selection of the first bishop was due to a non-Catholic, Franklin, while not a member of our church, said the speaker, "we all concede to have been a brilliant man. Bishop Carroll was an exceedingly brilliant man. Both possessed characteristics in common with that wonderful Columbus."

The balance of the inspiring address was concerned with the discoverer and some of the noteworthy passages are given at the head of the column.

"Nobody But the Fathers."
Timothy Maloney of Waukesha was called upon but confined his remarks to an expression of thanks for his invitation to participate.

Father Hanz of Deloit, in mock resentment at being called upon to speak, said that the play at the Myers theatre was "Everybody Works But Father," while the order of procedure at the Myers hotel seemed to be "Nobody Works But the Fathers." He complimented Deloit as a center of trade and virtue, but thought brighter prospects would be in store for Janesville when District Deputy J. Cunningham should take his seat in congress. The interurban road to Madison would certainly be built and he was certain that a new lighthouse would grace the K. of C. hall. The mark of K. C. he deemed of greater value than "made in Germany," and he knew the latter was very good. Greetings and regrets he had brought from Father Ward and his associates. Deloit was a very busy town and they found it impossible to come.

District Deputy Cunningham addressed congratulatory words to the lodge at the same time urging better attendance at meetings. Father Condon of Oregon also had some pleasant words to say for the Janesville Knights of Columbus. Brief remarks were made by W. H. Dougherty, J. H. Loden of Chicago, Rev. J. T. McGinnity, W. T. Flaherty, and others. Peter Nollies sang a bass solo and responded to an enthusiastic encore. Alexander Chatelet rendered "The Rosary" and several humorous minstrel selections. D. J. Luby gave a pleasant number. T. P. Burns could not be persuaded, and the festivities closed with the singing of the first two verses of "America" by the banqueters, all standing, to the piano accompaniment of Prof. Tringle.

Besides those who have been mentioned there were present at the celebration: P. H. Ryan of Appleton, Daniel Ryan, P. H. O'Donnell of Belvidere, J. A. Denning, E. H. Connell, J. Wilbur, J. H. McVicar, J. M. Hayes of Madison, Edward Donohoe, E. F. Schunacher, W. T. Dooley, Fred Viny, Jas. H. Cullen, Fred J. Schmitt, Jas. B. Keenan, Walter Britt, J. W. Clark, M. A. Crowley, C. S. Viney, F. Cronin, T. R. Costigan, Edward T. Jorg, Harry F. Jones, J. Hemming, Dr. M. H. Cunningham, Harry Haggart, William Bowen, Edward P. Ryan, H. M. Keating, J. E. Malan, J. P. Donahoe, J. M. Prefer Night Police Duty.
Sixty per cent. of the London police are on the night service, which they prefer to day service, because there is less to do. One of their main duties at night is to see that doors and windows are barred and to notify the occupants of houses when they are not nearly 26,000 doors and windows have been found open by them in one year.

Parks in German Cities.
Three German cities—Frankfurt, Rostock and Cologne—have public parks covering about half their area. Berlin, on the other hand, has less than six per cent. of its area taken up by parks.

Bee Culture in Europe.
Germany is now the premier bee country of Europe—1,910,000 hives, 20,000 tons of honey per year. Spain comes next, 1,600,000 hives, 19,000 tons of honey. Austria-Hungary has third place, 1,550,000 hives, 18,000 tons of honey. It is rather surprising to learn that France's annual production of honey is only 10,000 tons. From 20,000 hives hives Greece gets nearly 1,400 tons of honey. From 111,000 hives Russia gets but 900 tons.

Stations Far from Villages.
It is a peculiarity of Russian railways that their stations are generally two miles distant from the smaller towns and villages which they serve. This is said to be on account of the danger of fire, the houses in small places generally being thatched with straw.

DOTABLE BANQUET ON LANDING DAY

Fr. J. J. Collins of North Fond du Lac, Rev. Fr. M. E. Downs of White River, Rev. Fr. Joseph Hanz of Deloit, Rev. Fr. John Croke of Gratiot, Rev. Fr. Matthew Hannon of Darlington, and Rev. Fr. J. E. Harlen of Edgerton.

The arrangements had been made by the following committees: Speakers—Joseph Connors, J. J. Cunningham, and Patrick Kavanagh; Printing—A. J. Wilbur, W. H. Dougherty, and H. S. Faggart; Banquet—Daniel Ryan, W. T. Flaherty, J. H. Scholler, and Thomas Birmingham.

After the material feast was ended and the cigars had been lighted, Toastmaster J. H. Scholler spoke briefly of the purposes of the gathering and then opened his seemingly inexhaustible store of genial quips and merry incidents with an introduction of Grand Knight Joseph Connors, who was to deliver the opening address. The latter responded in kind and then proceeded in behalf of Carroll Council No. 590 of the city of Janesville to extend a hearty welcome to all who had assembled to do honor to Christopher Columbus on the 414th anniversary of the discovery of America.

Father Goebel came back to the subject of the evening by another humorous avenue. He said that he remembered talking with Christopher Columbus about his journey across the ocean. It appeared that the discoverer had his most trying time that night when the sailors murmuring in their discontent finally demanded that he tell them just how far they were from land. Whereupon Christopher, who had been brooding over the prospects in the Platteville district and some specimens of "lead" he had in his possession just prior to this, Columbus was struck by a happy thought. He rushed a line to one of these specimens and dropped it overboard and after noting just how much of the twine had been naved out, told his crew definitely just how far they were from land—advising those who doubted to try the same experiment.

Rev. Naughton's Response.

State Chaplain Naughton was introduced as the speaker of the evening. In his opening remarks he told the story of the enterprising pharmacist who was called upon to supply a

WHAT OF SOCIALISM?

The impression prevails, to greater or less extent, that socialism is rapidly gaining ground in this country, and that it is only a matter of time, and that not so far ahead, when the reins of government will be in the hands of the socialistic party.

Mr. Debs, the party's candidate for president, said in substance, to an audience in Chicago last Sunday, that there were 8,000,000 voters in this country who would not take up arms in defense of the nation under existing conditions.

These figures are a little high, to say the least, for the voting population numbers only 14,000,000, and while Debsism may be in a flourishing condition just now it is safe to say that it does not represent the majority.

Then, too, it is only fair to say of the socialists that the man who claims to represent them is more of an anarchist than a socialist and he has already served time for inciting a mob.

The rantings of a man like Debs will never influence the masses to any great extent and will have but little to do with moulding public sentiment. He is no more dangerous as a leader than he was twelve years ago, and the nation has but little to fear from him.

But there are other influences more subtle and, therefore, more dangerous which are poisoning the public mind today as never before. They masquerade under the high-sounding titles of "government ownership of public utilities," "representative government," and "independent voters," and they encourage unrest and discontent by arraying the masses against the classes.

Reform is the watchword and all over the land men are discussing the rate problem and the rebate evil, when many of them couldn't tell a rebate from a gas bill.

Property rights are regarded more lightly than ever before and success to any marked degree is stamped as a crime. The notion is growing in popularity that every man is entitled to a living, and that the man who has possessions should be willing to divide with his less fortunate brother.

While the confiscation of property is not taught under that title it is advocated by speakers and writers in terms that are easily understood.

Tom Watson, the populist prophet of Georgia, heralds the approach of a new dispensation and claims a great victory for the doctrines which he has taught so persistently.

He is willing to take into his fold all the reformers of the day and predicts that a new party is about to spring into existence, whose mission it shall be to satisfy all demands and reduce to the ranks all classes.

The issue of the next national campaign will not be a political issue. It will be of more importance than that for arrayed against the republican party will be the forces not yet united, but rapidly drifting together, which menace the foundation of the republic and which would undermine and overthrow it if in control.

Many of the men connected with these forces dislike to be called socialists, but they are so badly frightened with the dangerous doctrine that they are only a step from the ranks.

The issue of the next campaign will be intelligent loyalty to the nation, backed by a determination to demonstrate that, as a people, we are still capable of self-government.

WHAT IT MEANS

The manifesto prepared by the adherents of the private attorney and signed by four members of the council—published in this morning's Recorder—is one of those peculiar non-committal documents of the "Now you see it and now you don't" style. It comes out and goes in at the same hole and then attempts to cover up the hole.

Briefly summarized it means in substance: "We believe that the people of Janesville desire the road, but as guardians of the people it is our duty to protect them from rash and dangerous measures."

"We know more about financing the road than the men who furnish the money and Mr. Clough will find no trouble in handling our amendments. "The franchise will bind the city for fifty years and we can't afford to have our last long sleep disturbed by criticism."

"The franchise asked for by Mr. Clough in no way requires him to build to Madison or to revamp and operate the city line, therefore, Mr. Clough must be a bluffer."

"The franchise prepared by us is so much like the one prepared by Mr. Clough that he can readily accept it with slight changes. We know all about it and Mr. Clough will be better informed when he has more experience."

"This is what any unprejudiced man can read between the lines of the manifesto under discussion, and it simply means if carried out defeat to the enterprise."

The hope for the city is with the six aldermen who have expressed a desire to serve the best interests of the city in voting to encourage an enterprise which the people want. The mayor is in sympathy with the majority of the council, and if these men stand together there is some hope for the future of Janesville.

Mr. Aylward, the democratic candidate for governor, has discovered a mare's nest in the harmony campaign now being conducted by the republicans. He argues that the state is drifting backwards and that unless redeemed by the democratic party it will speedily be ruined. Mr. Aylward must belong to the fair-minded democrats who lent a hand to La Follette two years ago.

State Senator E. B. Stevens of Oshkosh, who was beaten for renomination at the primaries by 133 votes, has come out as an independent candidate, and will contest the election with John A. Fridal, the republican nominee. This will doubtless elect Harrington, the democrat. The primary law is all right in theory.

The government has come to the very wise conclusion that the Panama canal is too large an undertaking and so is advertising for private bids. The government is engaged in several other lines of business which would be better conducted by private capital and supervision.

Germany is indulging in a balloon and automobile race under military auspices. Balloons never have exploded tires and there are no obstructions on the right-of-way. A balloon race is a safe proposition with the automobile left out.

The good roads movement has reached Oshkosh and a convention is to be held in that city next Thursday. Mr. Loucks is organizing the state and good results are sure to follow.

There will be plenty of light on the subject when the farmers' jury in Ohio gets through with the oil trust investigation.

"The Limit" in Auto Devices

Evening Wisconsin: Certain automobiles in the Vanderbilt cup race are said to have been provided with a sharpened fender styled a "dog cutter," the idea being to save the occupants of the cars which collide with animals by having the fender cut the animals in two and cast them aside. But a dog-cutter would cut a man also, and it is hardly possible that the authorities of New York will permit the automobilists to carry any such menacing devices.

"We Killed the Bear"

Chicago Chronicle: Senator Spooner of Wisconsin is a successful hunter of big game. On one of his trips he had for his guide Bill Murray. They were out looking for bear or deer one day when Murray suddenly threw up his rifle and fired. The senator saw an animal fall heavily and called: "We've got him this time, Bill." "There's no we about it," I killed him plain enough." Quickly making their way to where their quarry lay, they found a fine specimen of Jersey calf. "We've killed somebody's calf," yelled the guide. Senator Spooner gave him a withering look and said: "William, you should be more particular in your choice of pronouns. We isn't adapted to this particular instance."

"Cham" Names the Reason.

Beloit Free Press: "The Milwaukee Journal is publishing letters from its staff correspondent" about Janesville, from which it is gathered that the prime cause of the statu quo in which our neighboring city has rested these many years is the failure of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad company to run frequent and speedy passenger trains between it and Milwaukee. Unprejudiced outsiders have an impression that the same spirit which is now being shown against an interurban road in that city has much more to do with the lack of growth than any failure on the part of a railroad to furnish trains, for railroads are noted for supplying trains wherever there is a chance of profitable business.

Great Still Is the Pension Roll
Milwaukee Free Press: The pension roll of the United States showed a falling off in numbers of pensioners of 12,470 during the fiscal year ending June 30. This is the largest reduction in any one year in the history of the bureau. The total number of pensioners on the roll at the end of the year was, however, 1,033,415.

Cost of the Cuban Mixup

El Paso Herald: As a matter of sheer dollars and cents, this Cuban mix-up is costing us 70 times what it cost Cuba. Battleships and armies are not cheap to equip and move around. And if we quench the row now without anybody getting licked, as is Mr. Roosevelt's laudable idea, we will probably have to repeat this performance, perhaps indefinitely.

Where Aylward Is Far Afield
Geo. Grassie in the Evening Wisconsin: I rather think that Mr. Aylward made a tactical error when he opposed the republican plan of state aid for good roads. He said that it would open the way to wild and reckless extravagance of state funds. But the people, as a rule, are heartily in favor of good roads, and don't care how they are built. And no wildly extravagant schemes will get far in this state just at present.

Then follows the "hiatus," if that's what they call it out in Denver, to the extent of three very wide columns.

Do you think I will be a coward, and cry out? I make you a present of everything; of the love and happy thoughts, of the pleasant dreams and plans, of the little prayers sent up, and the blessings called down—there were a great many every day—of the kisses, and all the dear sweetness. Take it all. I want nothing from you in return. But do you suppose that, having given you all this, I am going to give you my soul as well? To mean my life away, my beautiful life? WELCOME PASTOR FOR THE STUDENT

THE STATE UNIVERSITY PRESIDENT ADDRESSED THE PRESBYTERIANS

VAN HISE FAVORS THE PLAN

Would Have Religious Chapter Houses Established And A Theological Seminary.

A Madison, Wis., Oct. 12.—President Charles R. Van Hise of the University of Wisconsin, in addressing the Wisconsin Presbyterian Synod now in session in this city, expressed his hearty approval of the plan of having each denomination appoint special pastors to look after the spiritual welfare of the students. He also showed the advisability of giving these pastors suitable "buildings" which, being the meeting places of students of each denomination, will become centers of religious activity. The next step, he pointed out, should be the establishment of theological seminaries at Madison, so that students preparing for the ministry might have the advantages of university instruction and libraries, and at the same time pursue their theological studies.

To Supplement Intellectual Training.

President Van Hise spoke in part as follows:

"Religious instruction in the University of Wisconsin is impossible under our state constitution. While a difference of opinion exists upon the wisdom of this provision, there are many at least who are glad that such a prohibition exists, for they believe that their religion would not and could not be truly represented officially. Since state instruction and religion have thus been separated in Wisconsin, the practical question to consider is, what shall be done under the existing circumstances. This question has come to me at various times during the past three years, and in every case I have urged each church to take up religious work among the students belonging to or affiliated with it. Last year we saw the beginning of this work in the appointment of Charles Calpin, by the Baptists as student pastor. This year Father Hengell was selected by the Catholics as student pastor, and Mr. Edwards was chosen by the Congregationalists as student minister. Recently the Episcopal church took steps for the appointment of a similar official, and this synod has just taken like steps toward a Presbyterian student pastor."

Must Provide Big Men.

"The undergraduate period is that of transition from childhood to maturity, in which there is rapid intellectual change," continued President Van Hise. "It is sure to be the same with the religious ideas of students; they will attain much growth in the four years of university life. This the student pastor must recognize if he is to be successful. As important is the recognition of the critical and discerning student atmosphere. The man who is simply amiable in the other hand, coldly intellectual, will not meet the need of the students; he must be such a man as will gain the sympathy and confidence of the students, and at the same time possessed of an intellectual power which the students will recognize as superior. It is plain that as big or bigger men are needed for successful work in this critical period of the development of youth than for ordinary pastoral work. If each church places here a man combining a sympathetic appreciation of the students' point of view, intellectual power, and largeness of heart, great results will be obtained. Students will be in a much better position religiously than under official religious instruction."

BUILT AFTER THE SAME OLD RECIPE

"Everybody Works but Father," a Musical Farce That is Strongly Reminiscent.

"Everybody Works But Father," a musical farce with numerous lyrics and comedy features strongly reminiscent of many of the productions of the last decade, with "Did you ever have your life insured?" performing the same funny mission as the "Vas you ever in Cincinnati?" phrase in "The Prince of Posen," etc., etc., and the familiar street-car pantomime again doing valiant service, pleased fair-voiced audiences at the Myers theatre yesterday afternoon and evening. Miss Clara Atkinson is pretty and pretty, sang "The Pansy Song" and others in a most acceptable fashion, and shared honors with Miss Kathryn Roberts, who had the "heavy" feminine role. Harrison Greene, was a good Dutch comedian, as Dutch comedians go, while Bert O'Rourke's atrocious role of "Is" made the gallery shriek. The singing girls hardly constituted a "beauty chorus," but excellent costumes and the calcium light partially made up for this deficiency and their singing was passable.
